

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Media contact:

Dan Gould
SHIFT Communications for RedSeal Systems
(415) 591-8428
dgould@shiftcomm.com

REDSEAL SYSTEMS NAMES KARIM TOUBBA AS VICE PRESIDENT OF MARKETING AND BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT

Former Ingrian Networks executive joins RedSeal Systems' management team to drive corporate and product marketing and business development

San Mateo, Calif. — Feb. 13, 2007 – RedSeal Systems, Inc., a developer of innovative security risk management software, today announced that Karim Toubba has been named vice president of marketing and business development. With more than 12 years of experience spanning enterprise security, and managed services. Mr. Toubba comes to RedSeal from Ingrian Networks where he led the company's product and corporate strategy, playing a central role in making Ingrian a leader in application and database encryption.

In his role as vice president of marketing and business development at RedSeal, Mr. Toubba will drive corporate marketing and product management in addition to leading RedSeal's business development efforts to further advance the awareness and adoption of security risk management.

"Karim Toubba's addition to our management team will only stimulate RedSeal's momentum in the security risk management market," said Joel Evanier, president and chief executive officer of RedSeal Systems. "Karim's wealth of security experience coupled with the proven corporate and marketing leadership he brings will enable us to continue our company's innovation."

Prior to Ingrian Networks, Mr. Toubba was with Exodus, a Cable & Wireless Service, where he led the integration of its network, hosting, CDN, and managed services business. Previous to Exodus, he was director of managed services at Digital Island, responsible for integrating and aligning the global hosting, security, and managed services businesses. Toubba's career experience also includes leading Whistle Communications' successful growth in EMEA, eventually enabling IBM's acquisition of the company. He has also held positions in systems engineering and customer support with Whistle Communications and NetManage.

"RedSeal has led efforts to enhance awareness around security risk management, particularly how it yields overall business value," said Toubba, vice president of marketing and business development at RedSeal. "In my role, I intend to make tangible contributions to further strengthen RedSeal's vision, innovative product line and customer-driven growth, as we assume the leadership role in bringing security risk management solutions to enterprises."

About RedSeal Systems

RedSeal Systems develops innovative security risk management (SRM) software designed to streamline and automate the security management lifecycle. RedSeal's award-winning solutions enable companies to quantify overall security, assess critical areas of risk and validate that their security infrastructure successfully stops attacks. With RedSeal, enterprises can measure and reduce security risks, increase responsiveness to business demands, and reduce operational costs. More information can be found at www.redseal.net.

###