COMPANY OVERVIEW

REDSEAL

PROFILE

RedSeal provides a cybersecurity analytics platform to Global 2000 organizations that helps maximize their digital resilience to cyber events. RedSeal's advanced analytics engine creates an accurate network model, tests to identify security risks, prioritizes needed actions, and provides critical information to quickly remediate issues. The result: a more resilient network that can better repel attacks, contain breaches and be repaired quickly.

With RedSeal's platform, organizations can:

- Visualize their actual networks, including end-to-end access, detailed access paths, and hidden areas of their networks
- Fix their network's most critical security issues first by evaluating each issue in context
- Accelerate and improve incident response by identifying and prioritizing exposed assets
- Verify and comply with corporate network and security policies
- Simplify security risk management with the RedSeal Network Resilience Score ™
- Continuously monitor their networks
- Harden their networks by checking them against industry best practices

CUSTOMERS

RedSeal's security platform was designed to work with thousands of devices on complex networks. More than 200 Global 2000 corporations and government agencies worldwide use RedSeal to maximize their network resilience. The company's commercial customers span the finance, utilities, technology and retail sectors. RedSeal's security platform is also used in many large US federal agencies, including the DoD, civilian and intelligence communities.

PARTNERS

RedSeal partners with all of the top suppliers of network infrastructure. Its software integrates with all industry-leading security as well as with major workflow vendors, providing customers with a comprehensive network security solution.

RedSeal serves customers in North America, Europe, and Asia via its channel partners.
